

To Whom it May Concern,

Nikolay Krotkov has worked for VirtualHealth since April of 2017 in a variety of positions and has been a great asset to the VirtualHealth team during that time. He is a dedicated, organized team member who delivers high quality work in a timely manner.

During his time with VirtualHealth, Nick has supported a variety of teams and departments. He provided UX and front-end design support for our engineering and product teams on apps and websites. He has also supported design projects for Marketing including helping to create our illustration style, building a wide variety of illustrations and icons for our brand library. Nick is also a skilled UX designer and very knowledgeable about all aspects of user experience design, especially crafting efficient interaction designs. Nick is hardworking, diligent, creative and a collaborative team player.

While we have unfortunately had to end our relationship with Nick due to an internal reorganization, I would strongly recommend him to any organization looking for a focused, dedicated individual with strong creative skills.
